GET MORE WITH MEANMORE.COM - A NEW WEBSITE OFFERING SOCIALLY PROGRESSIVE, ALTERNATIVE MEDIA PRODUCTS

MeanMore.com, created by MRW Connected LLC of Easthampton, MA, is a new online marketplace of socially responsible and thought-provoking media products for individuals and organizations seeking answers and enlightenment they may not achieve through traditional media.

MeanMore.com provides an outlet for those writers and filmmakers, who have a message of social change that otherwise, may not be heard. Through its online portal, MeanMore.com seeks to connect those creating change in the areas of education, the environment, financial dealings, politics, health, and renewable energy to those who want to learn more about this effort.

Featured products currently available at MeanMore.com include: Born into Brothels, winner of the 2005 Academy Award for Best Documentary Film; The Truth (with Jokes), a book by New York Times best selling author Al Franken that analyzes the right wing; and 911 Mysteries (Part 1: Demolitions), a film that carefully deconstructs the story of 911.

MeanMore.com operates as a subsidiary of MRW Connected LLC, out of the historic Eastworks Factory Building in Easthampton, Massachusetts. The marketplace was created by Jeff Mackler, Tom Willits and the entire staff at MRW Connected. Everyone at MeanMore.com shares a profound interest in accomplishing positive social change. In this spirit the company commits 10% of its net profit in support of that effort.
